Selected AEC research notes.

How AEC approaches market research.

Systematic Discovery

Strategy concepts are evaluated across historical data with emphasis on repeatability, market logic, regime behavior and resistance to overfitting.

Market Intelligence

Research may incorporate structure, liquidity, order flow, volatility, momentum, statistical relationships and multi-timeframe context where supported by the data.

Portfolio & Risk

Signals are evaluated within defined position sizing, transaction-cost assumptions, risk limits and ongoing validation.

Clear Classification

Backtest and simulated research are labeled separately from executed trading records and are not represented as audited live fund performance.
